UM EXTENDS PROVOST SEARCH

MISSOULA —

The search for a new provost and vice president for academic affairs at The University of Montana has been extended, President George Dennison announced today.

Dennison said UM will seek assistance from a search firm to move the process forward. An earlier search yielded three candidates who came to campus for interviews, but none was offered the position.

In addition, Dennison said Teresa Branch, vice president for student affairs, will chair the search committee from this point forward, since former chair Dan Dwyer, vice president for research and development, has pressing business commitments. Dennison said there is a need to identify someone to assume the position as soon as possible.

Dennison has been serving as interim provost since Lois Muir was removed from the position nearly one year ago.
